SENATORIAL STRUGGLE.

Yesterday's Vote in Joint Session Shows no Change.

Sundays Computed in the Forty Days Session.

But No More Voting Will be Done till Monday.

General Assembly.

DENVER, January 20.—The senate was called to order this morning by Lieutenant Governor Meyer.

The committee on printing made their report as to the condition of bills, which was adopted.

The house concurrent resolution providing for a joint committee to visit public institutions of the state was again read, when Senator Elder, from the committee on state institutions, stated that it was impossible for a committee to visit all the public institutions and make a report during this session of the legislature. Thereupon the resolution was tabled until Monday morning.

Senator Weston, from the committee on judiciary, reported that they could find no law authorizing mileage to officers; the senate would therefore recommend that the resolution offered to that effect should be indefinitely postponed. The report was accepted and the recommendation of the committee adopted.

Several bills were here read for the first and second times.

The clerk of the house appeared with a message announcing the adoption by that body of the house concurrent resolution relating to computation of Sundays in the forty days allowed by law for the session of the legislature, and asking concurrence of the senate in the same.

On motion, the rules were suspended, the resolution read and immediately adopted by a vote of 15 to 11.

The senate then resumed second reading of the bill.

Senate bill No. 71 was read and referred to the committee on state institutions and public buildings. This bill provides for the establishment of a state normal school.

Senate bill No. 73 was read and referred to the committee on fees and salaries. This bill makes sweeping reductions in present fees charged by city and county officials.

Senator Elder here, by permission, introduced senate bill No. 113, prescribing the duties of connecting railroads.

Senate bill No. 80 was then read for the second time and referred to the committee on corporations.

The hour of noon having arrived the senate proceeded to meet the house in joint session to ballot for United States senator.

HOUSE.

The house was called to order at the usual hour by the speaker.

Mr. Ballard, from the committee on state institutions, reported favorably house resolution No. 112, for the completion of the building, etc., at the state school of mines.

The following were introduced and read the first time:

By Mr. Ballard, No. 141, to prevent the manufacture and sale of spurious and adulterated liquors.

By Orman, No. 142, for the protection of travelers on railroads.

By Mr. Peck, No. 143, to turn unexpended balances of special appropriations into the general fund.

By Mr. Trippe, No. 144, relating to roads and highways.

Mr. G. T. Clark, by general consent, introduced a concurrent resolution requesting the supreme court of the state to give an opinion as to whether Sundays should be included in the forty days allowed by law for the session of the general assembly. Adopted.

Several bills were here introduced and read for the first time and others read the second time and referred. Among the bills read the first time was one by Mr. Butcher, to create the county of Eagle; by Mr. Pisko, authorizing the state treasurer and state auditor to employ clerks; by Mr. Curtice, to regulate the release of trustees.

On motion of Mr. Royal, the house took a recess of 25 minutes.

On reassembling Mr. G. T. Clark asked that the bill for the charter of Denver be taken from the committee on corporations and referred to the Arapahoe delegation. Agreed to.

At noon the house received the senate in joint session to ballot for U. S. senator. Following is the vote:

Tabor—Eddy, Weston, Bowen, Breen, Darling, Haskell, LeFevre, Mears, Rivera, Sample, Sopris, Walker and Speaker Davis; 13.

Hamill—Cochrane, Freeman, Kearney, Stanger, Streeter, Teluton, Anguin, Ballard, Clark of Arapahoe, Dilpps, King and Orbision; 12.

Pilkin—Galloway, Howbert, Moynahan, Steal, Wells, Benson, Beach, Clark of Boulder, Curtice, Ford, Greene, Hoffman, Holly, Jones, Kerr, Perrin, Pierce, Pisko, Rockafellow, Trippe and VanValkenberg; 21.

Democrats voted for Patterson.

Hallett—Elder, McIntyre; 2.

Routt—Howard; 1.

This is the same result as yesterday, except that Baldwin, who voted yesterday for Bowen, was absent and not voting to-day.

The ballot for unexpired term resulted as follows: For Weston 23, Orman 21, Chilcott 13, Elder 5, Bowen 1, Meldrum 1, W. H. Meyer 3, E. W. Davis 1, G. T. Clark 1, J. M. Freeman 1, Hon. Jesus Garcia 1, R. W. Stevenson 2, W. C. Saunders 1.

After some debate as to whether the law required that balloting be done on Sunday, the joint session adjourned till Monday at 12 o'clock noon, and both houses adjourned till Monday morning.

The Virginia Debt.

NEW YORK, January 20.—To settle the controversy about the division of the ante-war debt of the state of Virginia, it is proposed that a friendly suit shall be begun in the United States supreme court by Virginia against West Virginia. The holders of the securities representing the West Virginia share of the debt have united in adopting this plan of settlement. As soon as the proper receipts can be prepared the Farmers' Loan and Trust company will receive in trust the bonds of such creditors as choose to unite in the proposed settlement. If a sufficient number of creditors should assent to the plan the friendly suit will be begun immediately.

Timothy H. Porter, of Stoutter & Co., No. 78 Broadway, who has charge of the affairs in behalf of the bondholders, said to-day: "The creditors propose to accept in full satisfaction of their claims whatever the supreme court may determine to be the proper proportion of the debt which West Virginia should pay. They have indicated already their willingness to do this, and therefore there is apparently no reason why the arrangement should not be successful. Whether it will be so or not will depend entirely upon their bondholders. No suit will be begun until it is certain that the settlement will be a general one."

Mr. Porter called attention to the following extract from a letter written in May, 1881, by Governor Jackson, of West Virginia, to Geo. H. Kearton, of London: "I do not understand that the creditors of Virginia have any demand against this state. Whatever liabilities exist is a liability to Virginia, and not to the creditors of the state. The people of this state are willing and anxious to adjust with the mother state the amount of this liability. This liability may readily be ascertained, whenever the mother state is willing to state the account with us."

Royal Visitors.

OTTAWA, January 20.—It is authoritatively stated that the Prince of Wales and suite will visit Canada the first week of March, remaining until after the Science Association, visiting prominent cities of the United States. As soon as the Princess Louise leaves Charleston for Bermuda the governor general will go to Washington as the guest of the president, and will subsequently spend several weeks in New York returning to Ottawa on the 6th of February.

By His Own Hand.

ST. LOUIS, January 20.—A Post-Dispatch special from Sedalia, Mo., says: Adolph H. Barth arrived here about 6:30 this morning, and having been sick on the train was carried into the depot, where he soon died. At the inquest it was discovered that he died from poison, a bottle containing corrosive sublimate being found on his person. A note was also found in which was written, "My name is A. H. Barth. Bury me decently." Barth was formerly a resident of Sedalia, and was engaged in the cattle business in Kansas. He was about 21 years old.

Phoenix Park Investigation.

DUBLIN, January 20. Miles Kavanagh, who is an informer, to-day swore that he drove the car on which Field's assailants escaped. He is now in custody. Immediately after the Phoenix park murders he was apprehended and detained two days on suspicion of having driven the car on which the assassins of Lord Cavendish and Burke escaped. It is reported that six prisoners who were in the dock offered to become approvers, but up to the present time the authorities have accepted only one, who will be examined at the next hearing. It is said there are three other informers. The names of Poole, Devine and Delaney are mentioned. Detective Deptis will be seized with persons offering to give information. Several suspected persons have left Dublin during the week. Detectives in pursuit. One important evidence, the purchase of the revolver that Devine had when Detective Cox was murdered, will be proved; also the purchase of knives found near the residence of one of the assassins. Evidence will be given of the issuing of summons in the hand writing of Joseph Mullet for meetings of the centre. The appearance of the three men arraigned Saturday exactly corresponds with the description of the three murderers of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke. The police intend making five more arrests. Mullet, the alleged leader of the assassination committee is a hunchback. The crown is confident of success in the investigation.

Red Cloud's Visit.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., January 20.—Red Cloud, the Indian chief, has arrived on a friendly visit to Prof. Marsh, of Yale college. He is accompanied by an interpreter. The day was spent visiting the Peabody museum, examining among other curiosities fossils procured by Prof. Marsh in the Indian country in 1874.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, January 20.—Governments strong, higher; railroad bonds irregular; state securities dull. Tennessee sixes, old, advanced one. The stock market advanced ⅛ to 1¼ up to midday, but soon after noon prices became weak and sold off steadily to the close, final sales showing a decline of ⅛ to ¼ per cent. for the day. The weakest stocks were Lake Shore, Union Pacific, Northwestern, W. U. T., Lackawanna, Denver, and Texas Pacific. Transactions, 356,000 shares.

Mining stocks dull. Sierra Grande sold at 2.50 and 2.60; Robinson Consolidated, 1.25 and 1.50; Little Chief, 44 to 41; Father De Smet, 5.25, and Standard Consolidated, 6.25 to 5.85, closing at 6.00. Sales of the day 69,410 shares; sales of the week 352,450 shares. Sierra Grande to-day declared dividend number four of 100,000. Total bullion receipts at New York for the week, from the mines, $280,011.

GENERAL MATTERS.

Trains Delayed by the Blizzard and Cold Wave.

Frye's Opinion of the Halifax Fishery Award.

Transit of Chinese Laborers to be Allowed.

The Blizzard.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, January 20.—The worst storm of the winter prevailed yesterday and to-day. The wind has blown a gale over eastern Iowa and the snow drifted badly. Trains on all roads running at all were from four to eight hours behind. Trains on the Illinois Central west of Cedar [illegible] were abandoned; also the C., R. I. & P., and the Iowa & Dakota division of the Milwaukee & St. Paul. The river division of the latter road is in better shape. The thermometer stands at twenty degrees below zero at ten o'clock to-night, having fallen ten degrees since dark. Both blizzard and the bitter cold are intense.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 20.—A Winnemucca dispatch says the weather along the line of the Central Pacific in Nevada is intensely cold. At Elko yesterday the spirit thermometer was 54 below zero. Ponds and waterholes are frozen solid.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., January 20.—The blizzard and cold wave reported last night continued all day throughout Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, North Nebraska, northern Wisconsin and northern Iowa. Trains are delayed in all directions, but are beginning to move nearly on time, because little snow has fallen. At four p. m. the thermometer stood 40 below zero at Barnesville, Fargo, Larimer and Grand Forks, Dakota, and Brainard and Crookston, Minn.

Frye on the Halifax Award.

WASHINGTON, January 20. Senator Frye to-night denied emphatically the report sent out from here that he had made the charge that the American commissioner to the Halifax arbitration was drunk most of the time, and drunk when he signed the award. Mr. Frye stated that he had never even met the American commissioner, a Mr. Kellogg, of Massachusetts; but that he believed it was the general opinion of the New England people that Mr. Kellogg was a very weak and inefficient man. He knew nothing of his moral conduct, but did believe that some other man could better have represented the United States than Mr. Kellogg did.

"After the award was made," said Mr. Frye, "we had nothing to do but step up like men and pay it; after we had submitted the matter to arbitration; but in my opinion this government owed Canada nothing on account of the few fish we took. The American fishermen took about four hundred and ninety barrels of mackerel, for which this country not only paid the award of five millions and a half, but have remitted duties to the amount of $300,000 every year for fish sold in the United States by Canadians. The United States allowed these men to bring their fish into the United States, free of duty, and sell them in the American market. The fact is the American government was, as usual, cheated in this arbitration. If we had been allowed a little more time we might have agreed upon some other person as umpire than the Austrian we did, who, early in the settlement of the question, took sides with the Canadian commissioner, and the two fixed the thing up as they saw fit."

Continuing, Mr. Frye said: "We allowed the Canadians to fish in the waters above the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude, and this, with the remitted duties, allowed them every year for fish brought and sold in our markets, should have been consideration enough for the 490 barrels of fish taken by the Americans." He concluded by reiterating his denial of the report, and stated that he would hardly make the charge that Mr. Kellogg was drunk when he signed the award, as it is a fact, known to all New England men, at least, that Mr. Kellogg did not sign the award at all.

Chinamen to Pass Through.

WASHINGTON, January 20. Secretary of the Treasury Folger has directed Assistant Secretary French to frame such regulations as may be necessary to permit the transit of Chinese laborers through this country to other countries, in accordance with the recent opinion of Attorney General Brewster on the subject. Mr. French commenced to-day to sketch the points to be covered, and will have the regulations in proper shape in the course of a few days. Before they are sent to the customs officers, however, they will be submitted to the secretary of state for his suggestions or approval, as the opinion on which these regulations are based was given in reply to an inquiry of the Chinese charge d' affaires ad interim, Mr. Tsai Sih Ying, addressed to the state department.

Secretary Frelinghuysen, in replying to the representative of the Chinese government, recapitulated the grounds on which the conclusion of the attorney general was reached; that Chinese laborers would be permitted to pass through this country, under the act of May 6, 1882, with certain precautions against abuse. The regulations now being prepared are to guard against violations or evasions of the act under the new decision.

The members from the Pacific coast are much interested in the matter and wish everything done by the treasury department to prevent stragglers from dropping out and remaining in the country. Assistant Secretary French, to whom this wish has been communicated, says he will make the regulations as strict as possible, but he don't see how an occasional Chinaman can be prevented from stopping on the way, unless they are shipped in sealed cars.

Don Cameron Not a Candidate.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—It is reported that Senator J. Donald Cameron will not under any circumstances be a candidate for renomination to the senate. Since the election Senator Cameron has been consulted by the leading republican managers of Pennsylvania, and among those who have recently advised with him are those with whom he has sustained the most intimate and confidential political relations. Mr. Cameron himself, it is said, cares very little to enter such a fight as would be precipitated by the effort to retain his seat in the senate. He is by no means satisfied that he could not get there should he really desire to make the contest, but he is willing to defer to his more immediate friends and accept any alternative which promises republican success.

Gunnison Land Office.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—J. Thomas, of Colorado, has been appointed register of the land office, and Frederick J. Leonard, of Colorado, receiver of public moneys at Gunnison City.

Milwaukee's Catastrophe.

MILWAUKEE, January 20.—Search of the ruins of the Newhall house was finished to-day. Two more charred remains were found, making 70; and of 177 people said to be in the house at the time of the fire, 110 are now accounted for as follows: Identified, 28; non-identified, 46; saved, 100; still missing, 1; total loss of life, 75. A committee of citizens and municipal bodies met to-day and decided on Thursday next as the day as the general funeral. Charred remains of the latter will be conveyed under suitable escort to the exposition building, where the ceremonies will be held under direction of all denominations. No new features were developed in the Scheller case to-day.

Corporation War.

PITTSBURG, Pa., January 20.—The Tide Water Pipe Line war at Titusville continues, with no signs of abatement. The excitement is still at fever heat. Old officials hold the offices with a force of men and barricaded doors. New officials will not use force. Jas. P. Keene gives orders to employes to stand by the old board and they will be protected. The satisfied party it is claimed held $250,000 of stock, and Perrin and party $163,000. Judge Church at Meadville this morning granted preliminary injunction restricting the elected board from assuming control, pending an action to show illegality of the same. A sharp fight is sure to follow. It seems that all chances of an amicable settlement are now impossible. The fight involves a sum of at least $500,000.

Prince Jerome's Manifesto.

PARIS, January 20.—Bonapartist members of the deputies held a meeting to-day and adopted resolutions declaring Prince Jerome's action perfectly legal, protesting against his arrest, maintaining that appeal to the people is the only means of securing the future of France. This evening's Republican Journal declares the reported legitimist plot is merely a drawing room conspiracy. Le Temps and National especially attach little importance to it. Le Temps urges that the chamber of deputies after giving recent incidents the just share of attention which they deserve revert promptly to discussion of more serious matters.

Railroad Fight.

EASTON, Pa., January 20.—This morning Superintendent Fish, of the Lehigh & Luckawanna railway, with 150 men attempted to lay the track recently torn up by the Pennsylvania, Slatington & New England railway company, near Bangor. The latter company with a force of men tried to stop the work and in the ensuing melee one man was seriously injured. Fifty of the New England party were then arrested and sent to jail, as also a portion of the Lehigh men. The track, however, was relaid to Bangor to-night.

Battle with Indians.

CHICAGO, January 20.—A Matawana, Mexico, special to the News has been received here of a desperate battle near Thantopec, between the 9th battalion and the Thantepec Indians. The Indians lost 80 men killed and many wounded. The troops lost 50 men killed, among them their lieutenant colonel. The Indians were routed.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

The body of Arthur Preston, hanged Friday at Belaire, N. J., was stolen from the grave yard.

Thos. Johnson, paymaster of the Boynton Saw & File company, was yesterday knocked down and robbed of $1,000, in Ainslee street, Brooklyn, by three men, who escaped. Johnson was returning from the bank with money to pay the employes.

The third annual banquet of the Chicago Press club was given at the Grand Pacific hotel last evening. It was an elegant affair and largely attended by local and visiting journalists. Responses to toasts were brief and the banquet was followed by dancing.

Samuel Ruth, defaulting cashier of the Washington, Pa., bank, had a hearing yesterday on two charges of forgery and two of larceny. W. A. Mackey, a stockholder of the Washington savings bank is prosecutor. Ruth was then held for court on $6,000 bail.

Yesterday afternoon a portion of the printers employed on the Morning Telegraph, of Toledo, Ohio, requested the publishers to discharge the foreman, and when the request was refused left their work. The vacancies were promptly supplied and the paper will be issued as usual.

DREADFUL DISASTERS.

A Train on the Southern Pacific Leaves the Track

And Many are Killed and Burned in the Wreck.

Steamship Cimbria Sunk by Collision Loss of Life Unknown.

Steamship Sunk.

NEW YORK, January 20.—Kunhardt & Co., agents of the Hamburg-American Steam Packet company, state that they received this forenoon a cable dispatch from Hamburg informing them that the steamer Sultan, which arrived at Hamburg last night, had been in collision in the German ocean off Barkum, in a dense fog with an unknown steamer, supposed to be the Cimbria, which sailed from Hamburg on the 17th for Havre and New York. This evening Messrs. Kunhardt received a second dispatch from Hamburg saying: The Cimbria was sunk Friday morning, twelve miles southwest of Barkum, by the British steamer Sultan. She sank fifteen minutes after the collision. Thirty-nine passengers landed at Cuxhaven this evening. Other boats are still out. Our steamers Bavaria and Hansa and several tugs leave immediately in search of the other boats.

The officers of the steamer Cimbria are: Commander Hansen; chief officer, F. Karlawa; second officer, F. Smith; third officer, A. Heydern; fourth officer, A. Voss; chief engineer, F. Alphen; second engineer, C. Coapman; third engineer, C. Wiedemann; physician Dr. C. Meltzer; purser, P. Bergholt; chief steward, J. Brockmiller. The vessel is of 3,025 tons, 336 feet long, built at Greenock in 1867.

J. F. H. Meyer, agent of the Hamburg-American Packet Co., was found at his home in Hoboken by a reporter. He said: "The steamer Cimbria must have had between 400 and 500 passengers on board, and I fear from cable dispatches the loss of life has been great. The steamer carried eight life boats. She had a crew of 105 men. Two years ago compound engines and new boilers were placed in her."

Railroad Accident.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 20.—There being only one operator at Tehachapi station, no press dispatches regarding the railroad accident have yet been received, but the following was obtained at the office of the railroad company here: Shortly after midnight the overland express by the Southern Pacific, which left here at 6:20 a. m. yesterday, stopped near Tehachapi station cut out. An extra engine was taken on at Summer to assist in pulling up the grade. While making the change, by some means unknown, the train got away and started back northward, down a grade of one hundred and twenty feet to the mile. The train consisted of two engines, express, mail and baggage cars, two sleepers, one coach and smoker. It went down grade at a frightful speed for about four miles when the hindmost sleeper jumped the track and went over the embankment about fifteen feet high, carrying with it the other sleeper, mail, baggage and express cars, which were piled in a shattered heap, took fire and consumed. The coach and smoker kept on down the grade and were stopped without leaving the track about two miles farther on, all on board uninjured.

The scene following the wreck was terrible. Numbers of persons were jammed amid the ruins of the train and roasted to death before the eyes of those helpless to save them. At present it is impossible to give the loss of life accurately, but it is believed from twelve to fifteen persons were killed or burned to death. The dead, so far as known, are Mrs. John Cassell, wife of a well known mining man, burned; F. W. Pierson, express messenger. The porter of one of the sleepers, named Wright, was taken out alive but died soon after. Lawrence, porter of the other sleeper, burned. It is feared that the wife of ex-Governor Downey, who with her husband was on the train, is among the dead.

At 10:30 a. m. seven bodies had been taken out, some burned beyond recognition. The following are reported injured: Mrs. Capt. J. K. Brown, Miss Ida Brown, Lee Waterhouse, Mrs. A. L. Waterhouse and two children, Jno. F. Cassell, ex-Governor Downey, maid, Mrs. Porter Ashe, James Woodall, F. W. Dougherty, Mrs. P. C. Hatch, Mrs. R. L. Hatch. It is a remarkable fact that the wounded are almost without exception but slightly injured. The following passengers are unhurt: Porter Ashe and wife, H. A. Oliver, Miss E. Squires and T. J. Oliver.

Many are missing, supposed to have been buried in the wreck, and consumed. Ashe and his wife, who is the daughter of Mrs. Judge E. B. Crocker, were on a wedding tour. They were in the sleeper which first left the track and then escaped uninjured is almost miraculous. A special train has been sent to the scene from Los Angeles with physicians and an undertaker. The dead and wounded will be taken to Los Angeles. Meantime every possible attention is paid them on the ground. A wrecking train has arrived from Sumner.

Later dispatches from Tehachapi confirm the death of Mrs. Downey, and say ex-Gov. Downey is badly hurt, but will recover. But few passengers left here on the train. A number got on at way stations, but as the list is not made up until Mojave is reached a full list cannot be made, except by personal inquiry. The train with dead and wounded will reach Los Angeles late to-night, when further particulars will be obtained.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 20.—Further advices from Tehachapi gives as the probable cause of the accident: When the train stopped the air brakes were applied. On detatching the engine the brakes were relaxed and hand brakes either left open or were not strong enough to hold the train. Movement may have been helped by the strong gale. It is now certain that eighteen passengers and two sleeping car porters were killed and ten or twelve badly injured. Seventeen bodies have been removed from the wreck, one of them considered certainly Mrs. Downey. Captain Waterhouse, previously reported injured, is not expected to survive. The following were badly burned: Mrs. P. C. Hatch, Mrs. R. L. Hatch, Mrs. Capt. Brown, R. C. Ross, Capt. T. H. Thatcher, Stephen Coffin, J. W. Searles, James Woodall and F. W. Dougherty. The wounded will be placed in the hospital at Los Angeles at railroad expense. The remains of the unidentified will be gathered up and buried at Los Angeles. Superintendent Fillmore says he does not yet know who is to blame, but some one has been careless. The matter will be thoroughly investigated. The train carried from this city one pouch of registered letters for St. Louis and about one hundred small packages of registered letters for various other points. The mail was important and unusually full, containing letters and printed matter for Los Angeles, San Bernardino and all post offices south of these points, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, a portion of Colorado and the state of Sonora, Mexico. One report is that all mail and express matter was burned; another that it was saved.

HOME TALENT.

Second Appearance of the Colorado Springs Troubadours.

Two performances were given at the opera house yesterday by the Colorado Springs Troubadours, one in the afternoon, the other in the evening. In the afternoon the attendance was very small and in the evening much better, but far from what the entertainment deserved, considering that the proceeds were for the benefit of the First Regiment Cavalry band, a musical organization that should command the heartiest support from our people. Beyond this consideration more encouragement might have been given to the participants who have devoted so much of their time and tried so faithfully to make the entertainment a success. Had the weather been more favorable there is no doubt but that the patronage would have been much larger.

The programme was very similar to that followed by minstrel organizations, consisting of a first part composed of musical selections interspersed with jokes, followed by character sketches, songs, etc., and concluding with a farce. The opening scene was a very good one. Seated on the front of the stage were the "jambo and bone" artists, three upon either side, and just back of them on a raised platform the chorus and orchestra. An overture opened the performance, followed by such popular songs as "'Tis Only a Pansy Blossom," "Take this Letter to My Mother," "Going to the Races," and several others equally as good. Many of the members were encored, but none so enthusiastically as "Tell all the children good-by," sung by Dick Ridgely, who, as the impersonator of the negro character, is equal to many professionals. "A flower from my angel mother's grave," sung by Mamie Barnes, was also loudly applauded. Excellent time was kept by the chorus and orchestra throughout. One of the most laughable features of the programme was the selection from "Pirates of Penzance," which concluded the first part.

While in many respects the second part was very acceptable it was not received with the same enthusiasm and satisfaction as was the first part. Either the performers were not perfectly familiar with their parts or did not take the same interest manifested earlier in the performance. Ermatinger, Ridgely and Stovell created considerable amusement in "The Lunatic," Stovell acting the part assigned him exceptionally well. Dick Ridgely's original lecture seemed to be fully appreciated but was almost too long to command the closest attention. The same fault can be found with the musical rehearsal by Bacon and Kroning, which but for this reason would have been a good card. Prof. Knoblock's cornet solo and Mr. Winn's picolo solo were both well received, but neither of them responded to encore. For several reasons the "Turkey Parade," which had been announced as a very attractive feature of the performance, was omitted.

The Troubadours may repeat the performance at some future time, and should they conclude to do so, it is to be hoped they will receive better patronage.

Floods Feared.

SAVANNAH, January 20.—It is feared that the Savannah river will overflow. At six it measured twenty-six feet six inches, and rising two inches an hour. Backwater is coming into the upper and lower parts of the city; heavy rains to-day. Those predicted for the head waters of the river to-night may cause a freshet.

Mr. Moffet has at last come to the conclusion that he cannot treat the sores of Gunnison county without using fluxes.

Charles G. Peterson, an employee of the American smelter at Leadville, shot and instantly killed Thomas Haskins on Friday.

The sixty miles of new track on the Denver & Rio Grande, between Grand Junction and Cottonwood, will be in running order shortly.

E. W. STEELE,
Manager of the Gazette.

Governor Cullom, who has been elected senator from Illinois, has had large experience as a public man. From 1865 to 1871 he was a member of the house of representatives, and while there secured the passage of a bill against polygamy, popularly called the Cullom bill. It is expected he will take a leading part in any future legislation on this subject. As Senator Edmunds' bill has proven weak in several particulars, legislation is now necessary, but will not be attempted until the next session.

Senator Cameron has wisely determined not to be a candidate for re election. His term will expire in March, 1883. His foolish fight to carry the state for Grant and to nominate a state ticket last May, nearly ruined his party. He has been able to carry conventions, but not to carry elections. The distinction has been a very clear one this past year. Conventions and caucuses must represent the popular sentiment of the party rather than the will of a boss, to have the sanction of the people at the polls. Mr. Cameron has found this out, and seeing he cannot obtain the popular support of his party, has formed the wise resolution not to be a candidate to be his own successor.

For the information of inquirers we will say that the short term is from the time the legislature elects to the 4th of March, 1883, and the long term is from the last date to March 4th, 1885. It will be remembered that Secretary Teller resigned last April. The governor appointed Senator Chilcott as his successor to serve until the legislature should elect a successor to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Teller. The election is therefore for a short term senator to fill Mr. Teller's unexpired term, and the long term senator is to be the successor to the one elected for the unexpired term. Senator Hill's term does not run out until March 4th, 1885.

The democrats in the legislature have a splendid opportunity to demonstrate to the state that their party is worthy of high confidence. At present they are voting for the election of a democrat to the United States senate. It is evident that this is simply throwing away the votes they cast. In any complikation a republican will be elected. Now if the democrats would throw away all party prejudice and vote for the best candidate among the republicans, they would probably elect him. This would best demonstrate to the state that the democratic party is worthy of confidence, and has the best interests of the state at heart. It is the best opportunity the party has had. Will it improve it?

A week has been spent by the legislature in balloting for a United States senator. Apparently the end is no nearer than before the balloting began. The voting cannot be very satisfactory to most of the people of the state. The fact that some candidates have not been able to poll in open convention within six of what they have polled in secret caucuses gives color to many of the charges of corruption against members of the legislature. Some members are certainly doing secretly what they would not dare to do openly. Why should they do this except for corrupt reasons? The candidates whose forces stand as one have polled as high as twenty-six in the caucus, but never higher than sixteen in the joint convention. So far as this unwillingness to vote openly as secretly shows a regard to public sentiment, it is a good omen. It shows that the public sentiment of the state is on a much higher plane than the legislature, and has been indicated so clearly that politicians are afraid to defy it. If there were not such a public sentiment, the dead lock would have broken before and Mr. Tabor would be Secretary Teller's successor. From present appearances Gov. Pitkin and General Hamill have the best chance of success among all the republican candidates, but their chances are not good. A long contest usually excites bitter feeling against all the prominent candidates and renders the selection of a new candidate necessary. The Pitkin, Hamill and Tabor men have been engaged all the week in showing why all other candidates but their own should not be elected. The effect of this must be felt in any break in the vote. One thing is quite evident and that is that the republican caucus is only a hindrance to the selection of a good respectable senator. It is only a cloak for chicanery and corruption. There ought not to be another.

LITERARY.

Harper's Monthly for February has a copiously illustrated sketch of "The Wild Welsh Coast," by Wirt Sikes, in which the reader is introduced to wild and picturesque nooks quite out of the path of the ordinary tourist.

In "German Political Leaders," by Herbert Tuttle, we have a worthy companion piece to the article on French Statesmen, which appeared in a former number of the magazine. The illustrations by C. S. Reinhart are especially worthy of mention.

In the second part of "Artist Strolls in Holland," G. H. Boughton gives us some excellent descriptions of the land of windmills and its inhabitants. It is needless to say that the illustrations by the author and E. A. Abbey leave nothing to be desired unless it be more from the same source.

George M. White has a very interesting article on "The Local Associations of Whittier's Poems," with illustrations by the author.

"Maryland and the Far South in the Colonial Period," by John Fiske, is an instructive and carefully prepared historical paper.

Phil Robinson writes about some of the birds mentioned by our poets.

"Eugenie Fete Day" is a singularly bright sketch of a factory girl's work-a-day life. Eugenie will be remembered by readers of "Among the Rose Roots," which came out in the December Harper.

"The Sequel to an Old Romance" is a pleasantly written love story by Ernest Ingersoll.

The serials, "Shandon Bells" and "For the Major," are continued, and there are the usual number of poems.

The editorial departments are full and quite up to the usual standard.

LITERARY NOTES.

In the February—midwinter—number of the Century Magazine will be begun Mr. Howells's new novel, "A Woman's Reason." A first large installment starts off in good form; and if we may judge from these first pages, "A Woman's Reason" promises more nearly to resemble Mr. Howells's earlier than his later stories, and in some ways we are reminded by it of the charming Lady of the Aroostook. The story opens among familiar Boston scenes, or, to speak more precisely, on Boston Common, near the Brewer Fountain, and introduces to us an old and honored merchant in the India trade, whose house at Beacon Steps is in a neighborhood of blameless social tradition, and whose daughter, the heroine, is a young lady who "danced through Harvard," was graduated, and proposed to by two of the men of her class, but whom, as she had no very high opinion of the mature qualities of either of them, she refused. Mr. Howells makes her a very attractive and charming young woman. In the same number will be printed "A Spectral Mortgage," a sequel to Mr. Stockton's story of the "Transferred Ghost;" an entertaining article on New York Artists' Models; and an essay on Frederick Lockyer, by J. Brander Matthews.

The Bentleys have published the Steventon edition of Jane Austen's novels, of which much has been said and expected. The Messrs. Bentley have never been noted for the mechanical excellence of their books, and why their new edition of Miss Austen's stories should be called edition de luxe, it is difficult to understand. Sets have already found their way through the book importers to this country, and we find a series of six very commonplace-looking volumes, printed from poor plates, with brown ink, on sandstone-like paper—the only satisfactory part of the book-making. The plates with which each volume is "embellished" are simply execrable; they have done duty for many years and were never worth printing.

Messrs. Scribner & Welford have just published Dr. Dresser's book on Japanese Arts. The author made a journey of four months in Japan, with the sole aim of studying the arts of the Japanese people, and the results of his labor are given in this book. Though it reads something like a volume of travel, it is not intended to be anything more than a comprehensive and technical account of the condition and progress of the country's arts—industrial and architectural particularly—and their influence upon modern designing methods. The illustrations are all by Japanese artists, and are exceptionally well engraved and printed. The binding, in a stamped crash cloth, shows a new material for book covering.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have for the sixth volume of American Statesmen, James Monroe, by President Gilman, of John Hopkins University. It will be published in February. A Lowell Birth-Day Book, similar to the Longfellow and Emerson, will be published also in February. The same firm have in press the journals of Lieutenant DeLong, of the ill-fated Jeannette expedition, which were brought home by Engineer Melville, and have been edited by Mrs. DeLong. The story told in the journals will be supplemented by narratives of the survivors, and an introductory sketch will describe the plan of the voyage and the preparations for it, and give a brief biography of Commander DeLong.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. will begin at once the publication of a new "Riverside Edition" of the works of Nathaniel Hawthorne, from entirely new plates, in twelve volumes, at $24 the set. The edition will include "The Ancestral Footstep," printed in the January Atlantic, but not Dr. Grimshawe's Secret, which is the publication of James R. Osgood & Co. Each volume will contain notes by Mr. George P. Lathrop, and illustrations; one of them a new steel portrait of Hawthorne. An edition de luxe of 250 copies will be printed from the same plates on Holland paper.

G. P. Putnam's Sons announce for the early part of the year G. H. Williams' second and concluding volume of his History of the Negro Race in America, covering the period between 1800 and 1850; The American Girl's Home Book, by Helen Campbell; The Woman Question in Europe, a series of essays by representative women; History of the Jesuits, from the foundation of the order to the present time, translated from the German of Theodore Griesinger, in two large octavo volumes.

Moses King, Cambridge, is about to issue in an octavo volume of 200 pages The Concord Lectures on Philosophy for 1882, but the edition will be limited to 1,000 copies printed from type. Only one lecture, that of Prof. Graham of Amherst, is printed in full; but the abstracts given of the others have been revised by their respective authors, and the Emerson commemoration is made a special feature.

All persons who wish to learn design for the minor arts, especially with a view to teaching them in schools, or to families, or single pupils, will do well to write to General Eaton, Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., and obtain gratis a pamphlet entitled Industrial Art in Schools, by Charles G. Leland.

Dr. S. Wells Williams, whose valuable book on China, The Middle Kingdom, has been for years accepted as a standard work, has thoroughly revised his book, and it will be issued during the coming year, probably by a New York publisher, who has prepared a number of new and interesting wood-cuts for the revised edition.

James R. Osgood & Co. will issue about the middle of this month the Correspondence of Carlyle and Emerson from 1834 to 1872; two volumes, edited by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. The American Architect, the only periodical issued by this house, is steadily gaining, and anticipates a highly successful year.

Mr. S. G. W. Benjamin of New York, the artist-author, has been appointed United States Minister to Persia, with a residence at Teheran. We congratulate him, and the country, in securing so competent and accomplished an ambassador.

Prof. J. A. Harrison, of Washington and Lee University, who has been yachting in the molten sunlight of the West Indies for six weeks, is now busily at work on a course of lectures on Anglo-Saxon Poetry for delivery at Johns Hopkins University in February.

Robert Bonner pays 100 guineas apiece for the three stories which are about ready for publication in Mr. Bonner's paper; ten lectures to children, reported from the second London edition of a book sold for what-d'ye-call-it, but interesting to everybody, with a good deal of humor in it.

Funk & Wagnalls, by arrangement with Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., will publish a new and unabridged edition of Cassell Father's Early Days of Christ and His Church, in cloth, at 75 cents; paper, 40 cents.

Lord Longfellow, Memorial Associations are now fairly organized in Washington, Baltimore, Wilmington, Del., New York and San Francisco.

The Critic, of New York, announces its advancement to a weekly, at $3 50 per year. It has our congratulations and best wishes on taking this new and important step.

Funk & Wagnalls have remitted $1,500 to Mr. Spurgeon as part royalty on the sales of their American edition of his Treasury of David—a very honorable and creditable thing to do.

Prof. John Fraser, of the University of Cincinnati, is to write the articles on Mesmerism for the Encyclopædia Britannica. It is to occupy from three to four pages.

A new novel, which the Messrs. Scribner have in press, is said to have fine literary qualities.

Superstitions

The Contemporary Review.

On the great artery from Paris to Lyons and the south there were only the two early and the two-late trains; the night mail of the day ceased on September 15th, because strangers were gone and it might not possibly be filled with natives. No second-class passenger was allowed in first-class trains and it was said that unless the French lines reformed their ways there was great danger of the Germans, in connection with the St. Gothard tunnel, carrying off a great part of the traffic to Italy and the east. We crept up the long zig-zag road behind the Puy-de-Dome leading to Fontana, crossing the little mountain line twice. "Ah!" said our driver, "how it has terrified the old women! One of them from a mountain village ran home half dead with fright, saying she had seen a line of black cars drawn by nothing, and it must have been the devil in person driving, for she saw him vomiting fire and smoke in front." Not far off we came upon a solitary little chapel. "Il paraît que cette Vierge a beaucoup de vertus, elle est très puissant on vient de tous cotes to entreat her." There was another in the Clermont cathedral, evidently a separate person, hung round with all sorts of offerings. "very powerful." A black edition occupied another chapel. This variety is generally very old and particularly efficacious, being probably a survival of the idols formed of meteoric stones, like "the image of Diana of the Ephesians descended from heaven." The devil and the Virgin are the great objects of fear and adoration among the peasants, the remainder of the hierarchy of heaven is comparatively unimportant. But, if help is not to be had from one potentiate, even a saint does not disdain to take it from another, as may be seen in the story of St. Kado. "He had entreated "Madame la Vierge" to obtain a bridge for him over a certain ill-conditioned river. "La menagere du Paradis" however, replied that such things did not concern women, "et qu'il fallait en parler a la Trinite." The rest of the story must be given in French, for the pronouns are untranslatable. "La Trinite, qui avait toute sorte de consideration pour St. Kado, repondit qu'elle ne pouvait pas lui accorder sa demande, parceque les saints de la Bretagne la ruinaient en miracles, et que les anges, qu'elle aurait pu y employer, etaient occupes ailleurs." St. Kado, thus rejected, turned to the devil, "who has always been considered an excellent mason," and "asked for his plans and conditions." Satan drew an admirable bridge on red paper. And then comes the ordinary story of the compact, by which he was to have the first soul that passed the bridge, and how he was cheated by a black cat driven over by the saint. And one cannot help taking the devil's side, who has honestly completed his bargain, and is defrauded by the wiles of the holy man, rather indecently. We came on a queer proof of the Virgin's power at Bausejour. A large stone outdoor stair led to an upper chamber, but the top stone had fallen, and there is communication above. "What has happened?" said I to the blear-eyed mistress, who sold wine and very unsavory comestibles. "Oh," answered she, "at the fete patronale of Notre Dame six weeks back we had a ball up here," (the ball must have been "limited," for the room could hardly have been 14 feet square); and they were quarreling, seven or eight of them, out on the balcony, when it all came down together. Mathieu had his leg broken, and Georgette's arm, and the rest were shaken, but nobody was killed, "par la grace de Notre Dame, parceque c'etait sa fete." It was certainly very kind of her, for these votaries squabbling in her honor were hardly creditable disciples.

A South American Fiesta.

Notes and Queries.

The chief amusements of fiestas consist in letting off crackers, getting drunk, and a certain wild kind of bull fight. There are no professional toreros, and although as much as $1 will be paid for a good place, the actors are all amateurs, often butchers, whose courage has been raised to the sticking point by an extra dose of rum. Neither do the bulls of Costa Rica seem to be a formidable species, and often an old cow is found the most game of the lot. On the other hand there is little cruelty exercised, man and cow having pretty equal chances; the horns, it is true, are cut down, but no dogs or crackers, darts or banderillas, are used. The most exciting event is to get a saddle on to the cow's back and then to amount her, a proceeding to which she seems to be furiously opposed. Neither are any horses sacrificed in the sport. The butcher bestrides one as he drives the bull or cow into the ring, and perhaps attempts to work him or her up to a little display of temper with his chuso or goad; but the horse has no other part in the fight. The animals are never killed in the arena; when no more fight can be got out of them they are lassoed and led out to make place for another. The costume worn on the occasion is a modification of the Spanish—a short jacket without waistcoat, a snow white shirt confined at the waist by a red silk sash-belt, a Panama hat, if one can be afforded, and trousers of very large check of bright colors (the stuff made in England for the Costa Rica market, though never seen here), the machete or sword-knife, the never failing companion of the Central American, dangling at his side.

Various Causes—

Advancing years, care, sickness, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them inclines it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light or red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak, or sickly hair, on which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its results, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is colorless; contains neither oil nor dye; and will not soil or color white cambric; yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous, imparting an agreeable perfume.

ROLLING SCREEN

A Patent that is Destined to be Universally Used

Some time ago mention was made in the GAZETTE of the fact that Mr Thomas Tribe of this city, had invented a rolling window screen a model of which was shown to several of our citizens, who looked upon it as an invention of considerable merit Since that time Mr Tribe has made several improvements on the original model and made application for a patent on the same which was granted him on the 14th of last November.

The invention is a cheap and very complete one It winds up on a spring roller like a common window shade and can be used for either the upper or lower sash or to cover the entire window. The netting used is the patent window screen cloth made in all colors and designs Upon either side of the window frame are simple wooden slats which guide the screen as it passes up and down This screen can be fitted to any window, either with or without inside blinds, and does not interfere with the sash or shutter in any way When not in use the screen can be rolled up to the top of the window out of sight

Mr Tribe has also utilized the same invention for the common window shade by introducing the slots on either side of the window with which to guide the shade. In this way uneven winding is prevented and the shade will do double the service

It is not Mr Tribe's intention to manufacture and place the patent upon the market himself He will dispose of state rights and with that intention in view has just had issued a pamphlet giving full description of the patent In this pamphlet the manner of making and material used is given, also estimates of cost The patent has an existence of seventeen years

WOOL MARKET.

Annual Review of the Market for 1882.

Messrs Munger & Avery, wool commission merchants of New York, issue a circular giving a review of the wool market for 1882. It is as follows.

A review of the year 1882 is in many respects very similar to its predecessors, both as to the general course of the wool market, and the pecuniary result to the operators in the staple

The year opened on a comparatively steady market A good many holders were expecting some improvement in price, but in this they were disappointed, and by February a slight decline was established In March, by reports of slow trade in the west and labor troubles, coupled with a rather stringent money market, confidence in values was still further disturbed, and in spite of a general desire to sell, wools were only moved as they could be forced on manufacturers, and this state of affairs prevailed throughout April and May In June there was but little demand except for medium fleeces, and it was generally supposed that wools would be bought in the country at low prices, but the clip had scarcely begun to move in July when excited buyers appeared in all directions, as wild as over 1 secured large quantities of the clip In Ohio not Wisconsin the craze was stopped before the bulk of the clip had moved, but in Michigan and the territories the excitement did not flag until nearly all the wool had passed into the hands either of local speculators or eastern buyers, most of whom had ample time to regret their course before they sold their purchases, and many still remain uncertain as to the amount of their losses The excitement of last summer in the west was about as unwarranted as any of the most foolhardy movements that have been recorded in the annals of a business not particularly remarkable for its exhibitions of common sense management Sales in the eastern market were large in July, wools being relatively cheaper than in the west In August the demand for all grades was good and prices steady, but the extreme tightness of money in September and October, large auction sales of woolen goods and several failures of manufacturers reversed the situation, and a decided decline in values was probably checked only by the firmness of the western operators who owned the most of the stock in the eastern markets November with more failures, and December with unsatisfactory closing out of light weight woolens prepared the way for a break in prices toward the last of the year, by which considerable wool was sold, mostly to manufacturers The worsted spinners being well employed, the demand for stapled wools has been pretty steady particularly for the finer grades High blooded washed fine wool has received more attention and the close of the year finds them in not very large supply and firmly held We opine that at last the time has arrived when blood will tell" in the selling value of domestic fleeces High grade medium fleeces have been in steady request at remarkably uniform prices Quarter blood and low wools were very slow of sale for several months until their extreme cheapness produced a demand, which has absorbed all the surplus stocks

The published statements of stocks in the various markets shows a reduction in amount as compared with a year ago, of several million pounds The falling off in Boston is most marked, in spite of the fact that the receipts of domestics were about 9 per cent and foreign about 30 per cent larger, while the aggregate of sales was nearly 6 per cent. less than in 1881 This would indicate that a much larger amount than usual has been purchased direct by manufacturers, and unless the consumption has greatly increased during the past year, the supplies in hands of consumers are considerably larger than was supposed

It is our opinion that the amount held in the west will be about as large as a year ago The new year opens with a somewhat uncertain respect for the wool trade Manufacturers are not over sanguine as to the market for heavy goods opening and while the mills will most of them run, even at a loss it is hardly probable that the demand will be sufficient to advance prices to any extent unless on special grades There will probably be no general demand for wool until the tariff question is disposed of The bill as proposed by the committee of ways and means (as far as it relates to wool) is not likely to affect the value of domestic fleeces

Sir Colin Campbell

Some account of his life and writings—Alison

A never missed his turn in the fatiguing duty of the trenches One night, when he was in them, an incident occurred to him which was attended with important effects on his future life and fortunes as well as those of his brother He was at that time captain of the light company and as the regiment went down left in front he was at the head of the column He had not received any distinct orders where he was to place his men In this uncertainty he met Sir Colin Campbell, the general in command of the Highland division whom he immediately addressed in the words "Sir I have received no specific orders where am I to place my men" Can you tell me where I should do so" "Don't ask me, replied Sir Colin, "I don't even know where I am" "Oh," resumed A "I think I can show you where you are" and with these words he drew from his breast a drawing of the trenches which he had copied in the inside of the envelope of a letter and which is now in my possession Having pointed out the locality and placed his men, Sir Colin after a little further conversation said "Well, sir, you seem to be a sensible fellow Come to my chateau at 2 in the morning when all is quiet and we will have some talk" He did so accordingly and found that what Sir Colin called his "chateau" was a little hollow or blindage in the earth, just capable of holding two or three persons, in the middle of the trenches occupied by the Highlanders They remained there for a short time in the dark, talking of the siege, and then separated to return to their respective duties Such was A 's first interview with Sir Colin Campbell, who at that time had not the slightest idea who he was.

The cold snap will delay work a little on the city hall

Mr A. J. Belcher, of this city has taken up his residence at Montrose, and will engage in business there

Trains on the Denver & New Orleans were behind time again yesterday, as was also the afternoon D & R G train from the south

Rev. J. E. Roech, of Virginia, Ills, will occupy the pulpit of the Cumberland Presbyterian church to-day, both morning and evening

Mr. John Rand, of Manitou who is in attendance at the legislature, came down from Denver yesterday afternoon, and will remain over Sunday with his family.

Minnie Palmer in "My Sweetheart" will follow Charles B Bishop at the opera house. Her business manager, Mr Robert Arthur, is now in the state making arrangements for her appearance

Postmaster Price reports that the recent storm has interfered but little with the arrival of the several mails Two large eastern mails came in yesterday, one from the north, the other from the south.

Rev. J. B. Gr[illegible]'s literary class will be resumed to-morrow night at the Congregational church. The subject will be the same as given out for the last meeting of the class "Longfellow's Keramos"

A gentleman who came down from Denver yesterday says that quite a large party from that city will attend the Knights Templar ball here on the 25th inst. They are thinking of coming down on a special train.

The trial of Charles Perton, charged with an attempt to commit rape, preferred by Mrs. Hurst, will come off in Justice Bentley's court to-morrow morning at ten o'clock. Judge Pixley will act as associate justice in the case.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at the rooms Tuesday evening All members are earnestly urged to be present, as business of importance will come before the meeting.

Many of the larger towns in the state are having billiard tournaments Would it not be a practicable scheme to have one in Colorado Springs? There are enough amateurs in the city who would participate in one if some one will carry the project into effect

A report of the condition of the weather at all of the important stations on the Denver & Rio Grande was received at the office in this city yesterday. Very severe weather was reported all along the line, varying from 10° to 42° below zero. The latter figure was what the thermometer at Gunnison City indicated.

Notwithstanding nine car loads of coal were received in the city on Friday, the supply was exhausted before night. Several car loads were received yesterday, the orders came in so fast that the local agents find it almost impossible to keep up with the demand. Enough can be obtained, however, to prevent any suffering.

Next in order at the opera house comes Charles B. Bishop, in his new play, "Strictly Business," supported by a strong company. Several of the Colorado Springs people who saw this play at the Tabor Grand last week pronounce it excellent, and in every respect worthy of patronage Bishop, who appeared here last season in "Widow Bedott," pleased everyone

It seems to be the general impression among cattle and sheep men that the cold weather will not have a very injurious effect on either cattle or sheep, from the fact that they are in too good a condition So far the winter has been open, with abundance of good grazing, and unless we should have protracted cold weather and deep snows, no danger is apprehended

Still the cold weather continues, although there was a noticeable moderation last evening. Yesterday at daylight the weather was the coldest that has been experienced in Colorado Springs in some years, the thermometer going down to 28° and in some instances to 30° below zero. Even with the sun shining brightly the mercury averaged zero during the greater part of the day.

Desperate measures are being resorted to by the Denver police to enforce the payment of licenses on dogs and it is to be hoped that some steps will be taken in the same direction in Colorado Springs. Heretofore the number of licenses collected in this city have been very small as compared with the number of curs that infest the city. Why not either rid the city of these worthless curs or increase our revenue by collecting the licenses

The board of education has deemed it advisable to divide each of the third grades in the ward schools into two divisions, each division to attend school only the half of each day. This change has been made necessary by the overcrowded condition of these rooms, as there have been more pupils than seats during most of the year. During the holiday vacation more seats were furnished, but still that is not sufficient. The above plan is to be tried as an experiment, and as at present it is the best way out of the difficulty, it is to be hoped that it will be satisfactory to all concerned.

What is the System!

From the Boston Transcript.

The other day the father of a young lady of my acquaintance bene promised her a summer in Europe this year if she would for three minutes carry on a conversation in French This girl has studied the language two winters, and for six months has been a pupil of the most fashionable 'French and English boarding schools' for young ladies in New York City Her reports showed that she had studied well, and in French grammar she stood high in her class She failed utterly to carry on for three minutes only a simple conversation on a general topic. It was discouraging to the girl, to her parents and to her tutor. Our manner of acquiring a foreign language is certainly all wrong, and this for years has been a trouble to me. It is always a pitiful sight to me to see a girl poring over Fasquelle or writing German exercises in the translation way. This has led me to examine the "system" that has come up, and to search, though always till now in vain, for some royal road to learning to speak a foreign tongue. To write it and read it anybody can do who is diligent, but sit down with any travelled and listen to their confessions of utter failure to make their wants known among foreigners, even though they had graduated from "French and English" American boarding schools. The little pamphlets of DR. ROSENTHAL'S MEISTERSCHAFT SYSTEM came into my hands a while ago; I had occasion to see them put to practical use, and to test the "system." I am convinced that here is a system which teaches one to think and to talk idiomatic German and French from the very beginning, which makes study a pleasure and no task, which enables one to make use of everything learned as soon as it is mastered Busy as we Americans are, there is no excuse for one of us not learning to speak a foreign tongue, and in three months' time, if we follow the instructions here laid down The greatest waste that I know of that goes on in this land is that of time and energy spent in trying to acquire foreign languages By the Meisterschaft system you learn on scientific principles to talk just as the child, though unconsciously, learns to speak and make its wants known. A boy sixteen years old uses but two thousand words, and it is a fact that six hundred are sufficient to carry on conversation on general topics. The author has sifted out these necessary words, so that we need no longer flounder about in a sea of thirty thousand, more or less.

A gentleman of my acquaintance, all ready for an hour's chat, heard a delightful hum of voices the other day in a house where he had entrée Going from room to room, he found in each a solitary young woman carrying on animated conversations with the empty air I met him on the steps, distressed and perplexed. "Have they all gone insane?" he asked. 'Oh, no," I replied, "it is only the Meisterschaft system They're going to Europe, and what they know, best little or much, they'll know how to make use of.'

'I stood first in French in college when I graduated, got to Paris a year after and couldn't talk enough French to hire a lodging, but my wife, who had never opened a grammar, but had had a French maid for a year or two who knew no English, got on as well as at home There's a screw loose somewhere," he replied Foreigners always tell me that we are lazy and won't learn but it is not true We simply don't learn in the right way I have come to believe thoroughly in the new Meisterschaft system
